4. NEC Support: Rs. 6.00 Lakh

5. Objectives of the Event

The primary objective of the She Friendly Project was to promote gender-inclusive development and improve the overall well-being of women through awareness generation and capacity-building initiatives. The project aimed to

- Empower women through knowledge, skills, and access to information.
- Promote a safe and supportive environment for women and girls.
- Encourage community participation in women-centric developmental activities.
- Strengthen awareness on health, education, livelihood, and legal rights.
- Foster sustainable socio-economic development by enhancing women's participation in community development.

6. Brief Proceedings and Major Highlights

The programme commenced with an inaugural session where the objectives and significance of the project were explained to all participants. This was followed by technical sessions, awareness programmes, interactive discussions, practical demonstrations, and experience-sharing sessions conducted by experts and resource persons. Participants actively engaged in all the activities and raised queries related to women's welfare, entrepreneurship, health, and livelihood opportunities. The event concluded with an interactive feedback session, distribution of informational materials, and a formal vote of thanks.

Major Highlights:

- Successful inauguration and implementation of all planned activities.
- Active interaction between resource persons and participants.
- Awareness sessions on women's empowerment, safety, and livelihood.
- Capacity-building programmes for beneficiaries.
- Positive feedback and enthusiastic participation from the local community.

7. Participants

The event witnessed active participation from various sections of society, including women beneficiaries, Self-Help Group (SHG) members, youth representatives, local community leaders, government officials, students, and representatives of civil society organizations. Resource persons and experts from relevant fields also attended the programme to provide technical guidance and practical knowledge.

Total Participants: [Women and Adolescent girls in 20 Higher Secondary Schools/ Colleges in Shillong]

8. Outcomes/Impact of the Event

The project achieved its intended objectives by enhancing awareness, knowledge, and confidence among the participants. Women beneficiaries gained valuable information regarding available opportunities, government schemes, entrepreneurship, and social welfare measures. The programme also encouraged greater community participation in promoting gender equality and women's safety.

The event contributed to strengthening local capacity, promoting inclusive development, and creating a supportive environment for women. Participants expressed willingness to adopt the knowledge gained during the programme and to share it within their communities, thereby ensuring long-term sustainability of the project's impact.
